

Greetings and respect,

Total respect to the I.

I have read the I's word sound and I must say that I agree 100% with what you say, there is no way anyone can dispute it.

If, we can indulge a bit in some ancient stories.

According to Dr. Chiek Anta Diop in his research found that in ancient times, there existed two black peoples, one was found in Africa and the other was found in India.

"There are two well-defined Black races: one has a black skin and woolly hair; the other also has black skin, often exceptionally black, with straight hair, aquiline nose, thin lips, an acute cheekbone angle. We find a prototype of this race in India: the Dravidian. It is also known that certain Nubians likewise belong to the same Negro type...Thus, it is inexact, anti-scientific, to do anthropological research, encounter a Dravidian type, and then conclude that the Negro type is absent."

It is not mentioned that a race of "brown" people existed in India at the time.

; The other also has black skin, often exceptionally black, with straight hair, aquiline nose, thin lips, an acute cheekbone angle. This feature is pretty typical in the Caribbean.

Bro. Runoko Rashadi mentions that:

"In Greater India, more than a thousand years before the foundations of Greece and Rome, proud and industrious Black men and women known as Dravidians erected a powerful civilization. We are referring here to the Indus Valley civilization- -India's earliest high-culture, with major cities spread out along the course of the Indus River."

Rashadi says here, MORE than a thousand years BEFORE the foundations of Greece and Rome, proud and industrious Black men and women known as Dravidians existed in the Indus Valley.

Again there is no mention of a “brown people”

Now for a thousand years BEFORE and more, European systems of civilization didn't exist in the capacity that they would have us believe. So it would be safe to conclude that the area stretching from India to Africa and everything in between was part of the “Black world?” and inhabited by black people.

Now we come up to when black world met the Europeans. From Herodotus to Marco Polo, Aristotle, Socrates, Plato and all other European Kings and Rulers desired that level of government and civilization that they found south of Europe.

Here is an example:

In 1288 and again in 1293 the Venetian traveler Marco Polo visited the Pandyan kingdom and left a vivid description of the land and its people.

Rashadi reports thru his research, Polo as saying:

"The darkest man is here the most highly esteemed and considered better than the others who are not so dark. Let me add that in very truth these people portray and depict their gods and their idols black and their devils white as snow. For they say that God and all the saints are black and the devils are all white. That is why they portray them as I have described."

Good old Marco must have stood there with his jaw dropped! Can you imagine the awe; poor thing must have lost his breath.

The food, the music, the mannerisms, the magnitude of territorial rule and government as opposed to their gated city monarchies! Even before Polo, when the European kings had their secret meetings based on the findings of men like Herodotus and Polo and Columbus, and their planners like Socrates and Plato, I often wonder as to the nature of the conversations.

Could it be that the destruction of black civilization is the result of those secret meetings? I am wondering if the looting and burning of Egypt has anything to do with a military controlled population?

With the coming of the European into the Cushitic civilization, the colonizing of the black peoples of the world began. The ever popular military strategy of DIVIDE AND CONQUER was implemented. The idea was to drive a wedge right down the center. They succeeded in doing that, cutting off the east from the west, splitting the empire in two.

With the advantage of the split, it was now easier to control.

Rashadi reports:

The White tribes that invaded India and disrupted Black civilization there are known as Aryans.

The Aryans were not necessarily superior warriors to the Blacks but they were aggressive, developed sophisticated military technologies and glorified military virtues.

Through military might they began to implement their systematic destruction of the black people of India. At the same time injecting themselves into the Nile valley culture, carrying away what they wanted and burning the rest, this attitude continues all the way till present day.

Rashadi says here:

After hundreds of years of intense martial conflict the Aryans succeeded in subjugating most of northern India. Throughout the vanquished territories a rigid, caste-segmented social order was established with the masses of conquered Blacks (called Shudras) essentially reduced to slaves to the Whites and imposed upon for service in any capacity required by their White conquerors.

This vicious new world order was cold-bloodily racist.

Servitude to Whites became the basis of the lives of the Black people of India for generation after generation after generation. With the passage of time, this brutally harsh, color-oriented, racially-based caste system became the foundation of the religion that is now practiced throughout all India. This is the religion known as Hinduism.

The systematic religious and military takeover of the black world has many different parts to its makeup, slavery being one of them. The system of European colonization is designed for one thing, and that is to keep the white race in power, the rules of governance is also designed to change with technological developments.

Race mixing was a part of their military arsenal, which they used extensively in Northern part of the Cushitic civilization, the result of which is perhaps the creation of a race of “brown” people, educated with a system of racial caste division, which is now practiced as righteous livity. These people no longer believe that they have African blood; they believe they are Aryans and they will tell you so, their education is, according to Aryan caste teaching, “to dislike anything black or Sudra”

Rashadi says:

The masses of conquered Black people, however, were regarded by the Whites as Untruth itself. The Whites claimed to have emerged from the mouth of God; the Blacks, on the other hand, were said to have emerged from the feet of God. This was the ugly reality for the Black masses in conquered India.

Their conquest continued through to the 1400's. Given the evidence we have of their exploits in the older world and their robbery of manuscripts, maps, scientific and all the other mystical and holy documents, they would like to have us believe that they thought the world was flat. As they deciphered these documents, their brutal rule of caste oriented world order came into being. That world order, upon arrival on the shores of the Caribbean islands and the mainland of America sent into extinction, the people found there. All this time they were battling amongst themselves, and dividing up the black world.

Subjugating the world was all the whites were interested in, one world order was their plan, all of this had to be controlled, and only through military power could they have made it happen. Now, Europe being in the minority didn't have the man power to sustain such a massive campaign. So they had to find a way to maximize their control over such a large expanse of land and people. Religion was the tool used, and the military was used to enforce this religion.

Every aspect of their colonization scheme was done through religion and their military

Here is a example of their control:

-race mixing

- Slavery (severe brutality, victimization, genocide, mind control, religion)

-indenture ship (mind control, victimization, brutality, systematic takeover of religion)

this is like a massive chess game, in which the pawns are the African people, systematic divide and rule is the playing rules of this game, a deadly game of monopoly, one in which entire countries, societies, civilizations and people are being controlled with ONE AIM IN MIND, and that is to keep the white race in power.

Slavery and indentureship is simply service to the white race, same thing, different strategy and category.

I am not arguing or making a mockery of the African holocaust, it is the largest systematic eradication of an entire people the world will ever know.

Bro. Rodney gave a very good description of how they did it in Africa and we only have to read brothers like Rashadi and Diop, who are amongst the finest black scholars, to put the pieces together to se how they did it in other parts of the world.

Outside of the African people, all other slaves were allowed to retain some of their “cultural” heritage as part of the power play of their game of monopoly. The “cultural” heritage of the “Indian” as Bro Rashadi has reasoned is one the white race forced on the Dravidians at the top of their conquest of the world. Hinduism is not a black spiritual ideology, it is Caucasian.

Rashadi:

With the passage of time, this brutally harsh, color-oriented, racially-based caste system became the foundation of the religion that is now practiced throughout all India. This is the religion known as Hinduism.

Today, in this “FREE” world, where travel and communication has allowed many ones to see and speak, yet the pain of slavery still exists. Even emancipation cannot remove the scourge of slavery, for it exists in the minds of the people through religion. For the Indian, the caste and racist ideology that was imbedded into their minds are still very much alive, as long as the religious belief of Hinduism continues to be their choice of worship, they will continue to see themselves as Aryans (White) until such time when they begin to see themselves as belonging to the ancient black culture, we will forever have a fight.

In this massive game of chess and monopoly certain pawns are annihilated, as in the case of the indigenous people of the Caribbean and America. World civilization owes its existence to the ancient African mind, to re-channel the creative energy of the ancient Ethiopian, it was necessary for the white race to corrupt the source of this energy and like the head waters of any river when corrupted or compromised will deliver its corruption throughout the entire flow of the river.

During the 1970’s in Trinidad we had good role models that brought light to the problems we faced as a people, we had people like Bro. Makandal Dagger, Bro. Khafra Kambon, Sis Lousia Critchlow, Bro Raj, Bro Roopdeo Chaitoo, Bro Ramkissoon Bridglal, Sis Beverly Jones, Sis. Jennifer Jones, Bro Guy Harewood, Bro Brian Jeffers, Bro Raffique Shah, and many others who dared the system of white rule to say “Africans and Indians unite” their messages and lives mean a lot to us and have opened many an eye, both Indian and African.

So this is where we are today, in the different aspects of “service” to the white race.

This is what His Majesty has said to I n I:

H.I.M TO THE O.A.U ON RHODESIA.....

"the unilateral declaration of independence which was announced by A WHITE RACIST government on November 11th 1965, though expected
